

France Must Recede From Demands Or Pay U.S. Debt

SENATE WON'T LET MONEY BE USED FOR FUTURE WAR FLEET

Naval Committee of Conference Agrees on 10,000-ton Limit for Cruisers

By Lawrence Martin
Washington—America may demand that France immediately pay her debt to this country in a means of forcing her to abandon her big submarine fleet policy.
Amendments to the foreign debt refunding bill are being prepared. One of these, to be presented to the senate will direct that a demand be made on France for payment of the interest and principal of the debt. This debt amounts to between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.
France of course could not pay it off if the United States demanded it. The idea back of the proposed demand is that its adoption would serve notice on France that American public and official opinion, heretofore extremely friendly to France, had undergone a chilling because of the French attitude.
Other amendments to the bill, similar in import, have been introduced from the capitol. They all carry the idea that if France has money to spend on a huge navy and army, she ought to have some to pay off her war debts.
Along with the newly kindled resentment towards the French, the developments of recent days in the arms conference have intensified the hostility, always strong, in congress against any sort of American coalition, entente or alliance with foreign nations. There is no question that the lid on submarine and aircraft competition has strengthened the opposition to the four-power Pacific treaty.
NAVY ADVOCATES TALK
It has also strengthened the little group of "big navy" men in both houses. They will be heard from in the debate which promises to break out soon after the assembling of congress on Jan. 3. They will demand the United States outbuild the world on submarines, aircraft and cruisers.
France has also made difficult congressional approval of American participation in the European economic conference. The French desire such a conference and want this government in it.
Harding's association of nations scheme has suffered also. In general, it would be difficult to get congressional assent now to any sort of American cooperation with foreign nations, in view of what this conference has shown may be expected.

HARDING WILL HOLD CONFAB FOR FARM AID

Instructs Wallace to Summon Experts to Plan Financial Relief

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace will call an agricultural conference in the near future, it was learned authoritatively Friday.
The White house late Friday will make public a letter from President Harding to Wallace, suggesting that he call the conference for the purpose of getting agriculture out of its distressing financial condition, it was learned.
Representatives of farm organizations contend that the agricultural industry cannot survive unless action is taken to bring the cost of production in line with prices received by the farmer.

AGREE ON CRUISERS

Washington—Ten thousand tons as the limit for cruisers was agreed upon by the naval disarmament committee Friday.

This decision, amounting to elimination of competition in cruiser construction is subject only for approval from Paris—an approval which is expected shortly.
The session was concerned mainly with discussions of the proposal to make illegal any use of submarines against merchantmen. The British amendment, making the new rule applicable immediately to the five great powers, was debated extensively, with the result that France, Italy and Japan asked their governments for instructions.
No serious objection to the proposal was raised by the conference, and an American delegate predicted the home governments will adhere to the proposal.

READY TO CONFER

Paris—France is ready to participate in any conference designed to limit and regulate the use of submarines, it was semi-officially stated here Friday.

France is prepared to abide by international rules which might be formulated at such a conference.
The superior council of national defense met Friday afternoon with President Millerand. It was believed submarine issues were the main topics of discussion.

GERMAN WORKERS UNEASY IN CRISIS

Railway Union Begins Walkout as Allies Confer About Financial Status

Berlin—A general strike loomed here Friday as the allies in France began negotiations for the economic rehabilitation of Germany.
The railway union began a walkout which will tie up the entire Rhineland district and sympathy walkouts are expected to be called immediately.
The crisis developed when the German cabinet rejected demands of workers.
Suspension of traffic over the railway lines began immediately after the decision. The rail union took the leadership in proclaiming a strike effective for the Rhineland district. Even before this, however, many men had independently begun a walkout.

Bath Parlors Taboo; They Weren't Nice

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—The water was turned off in Chicago's Fountain of Youth Friday.

Tired business men—modern Ponce de Leon—found solace in their favorite "healthy parlors" when they went around to recuperate from the fatiguing task of pulling the nation through the industrial depression.

Bath houses in Chicago's loop district, whose beautiful girl attendants gave the "atmosphere business men appreciate" were closed.

"Those who were wont to 'seek rest and relaxation at the baths of beautiful muses,' as the handbills announced, had to go elsewhere.

"The old boys just loved these places," said State's Attorney Crowe, who started the raids. "They were ready to throw away their crutches and canes when they left."

Crowe said the "healthatoriums," most of them beautifully furnished, must be "stamped out if Chicago is ever to be purified."

Crowe put on the lid on the first aids to longevity on the grounds that they were disorderly places.

Crowe said one proprietor of a bathhouse made this defense:
"The old men are not our only patrons, not at all. Many business and professional men forget or do not have time to take a shower in the morning. To this class we cater."

So, thanks to Crowe, the old fashioned bath tub of Saturday night popularity, is now supreme.

Flood Watson With Soldier Death Data

Accusations as to Killing of Enlisted Men Without Trial or Cause Arrive From All Over U. S.—Sustain Other Charges.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Charges that soldiers were illegally hanged, shot by soldiers and brutally treated during the war continued to pile up Friday before the senate committee investigating Senator Tom Watson's sensational charges.

Every mail brings Watson letters and telegrams from war veterans in all parts of the country, who declare they have evidence to prove his charges. He is turning them over to the committee and asking that the men be summoned.

George D. Glazebrook, an enlisted man in the navy, wrote Watson Friday that he witnessed the illegal hanging of two negro soldiers in France, in the spring of 1919 and asked a change "to bring the guilty ones to justice."

"I can say with a true heart and clear conscience that these two negroes were hanged without trial, and with the uniform of the United States army on," said Glazebrook.

Glazebrook said he could not remember the exact date of the hangings, but gave the name of "Lieut. Lazelle of Montana and Dr. Perkins, a captain, M. C. U. S. A., as two officers who were present."

Charges against Major H. L. Opie of Staunton, Va., who has been accused of shooting men of his command, continued to come in.

Levi P. Bell of Purcellville, Va., a former private in company 1, 16th infantry, wrote that Henry L. Scott, Akron, Ohio, who made the original charges against Opie, "absolutely told the truth."

Slater Finds Himself in Prison at Hard Labor for Life in Few Hours

By United Press Leased Wire
Stillwater, Minn.—Earl Slater started a life time of hard labor at the state prison here Friday for one of the most brutal murders in the history of the northwest.

Slater entered prison just six hours after he was indicted by a special grand jury at Anoka. In less than an hour after indictment for killing Frank L. Kelly, former Mankato legislator, he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to spend the remainder of his life at hard labor in prison. He arrived here in time for supper Thursday night.

Slater confessed having lured Kelly from his Mankato home to Dayton, Minn., on a whisky running run. He shot him down after robbing him and set fire to the school house where the murder occurred hoping to destroy the body. He fled in Kelly's car and was arrested later at Blue Earth, Minn.

LA CROSSE FIRST WISCONSIN CITY TO CUT GAS RATES

Madison—The first reduction in gas rates in a large Wisconsin city was announced Friday for LaCrosse by the Wisconsin railroad commission, which, in a decision following several months of investigation and hearings, ordered a sweeping cut.

Rates were cut 20 cents a thousand cubic feet of gas in each class of service. The ten-cent penalty per thousand feet, assessed if the bill is not paid by a certain time, was continued.

Net prices of gas now are $1.55 per thousand cubic feet for the first 5,000 feet; $1.70 per thousand for the next 5,000, and $1.60 per thousand for all over 10,000.

Former prices net were $2.05 per thousand cubic feet for the first 5,000 feet; $2.50 for the next 5,000, and $1.80 for all over 10,000.

This was the first decision in the case of any large city petitioning for lower rates. LaCrosse was the first Wisconsin city to petition. The case was taken to the commission Sept. 12, 1921.

Four telephone companies in small Wisconsin towns were allowed increases in rates. They are the LaCrosse Telephone company, Jaberok, Wis.; Home Telephone company, Durand, Wis.; Oakfield Telephone company, Oakfield, Wis., and the Cadott-Royd Telephone company, Cadott, Wis.

Three municipal waterworks were allowed increases in rates, at Virgona, Mukwonago and Highland.

Other large Wisconsin cities which have petitioned for reductions in gas rates are Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Ladino and Kenosha. It is believed the reductions will be granted soon.

Box Locals To Be Discontinued Dec. 31

Beginning with the New Year, no "box locals" advertisements surrounded by reading matter will be accepted for publication in the Post-Crescent, but in their stead we will offer what is termed "black locals," samples of which will be found scattered on the various inside pages of this issue.

The rate on black locals will be 25c per line.

This change is made with a view to improving the typographical appearance of the Post-Crescent and is in accord with the best newspaper practice.

RAILROAD STATION IS ORDERED AT LEMINGTON

Madison—The Omaha railroad was Friday ordered by the railroad commission to institute a new shipping point at Lemington, Wis., near Superior, at the intersection of that railroad with the road known as Parkway.

Suit to compel the railroad to take this action was brought by Louis Bruckner of Superior, and furthered by State Senator Nye here last fall. The order also requires the relocation of a new wagon road to connect with the place where freight will be discharged.

ATTITUDE OF FRENCH MAKES U. S. AN ENEMY

Erratic Diplomacy is Making This Country and Britain Closer Together

IS IT SPIRIT OF REVENGE? Washington, in Disgust, May Let Europeans Work Out Own Big Problems

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.

Washington—France is riding to a fall so far as she may be expected the moral help or support of the United States government in the working out of economic problems.

The most far-reaching results are likely to ensue from the French policy of obstruction at the Washington conference. The disappointment over France's attitude on the limitation of submarines is so great that the strongest kind of talk is heard in official circles, the net effect of which is to draw Great Britain and the United States closer together as apart from France.

The feeling here is that France is unyielding in her attitude on the building of submarines largely because of the Franco-British friction which has been developing ever since the end of the European war.

The move of France in asking for more submarines is regarded as purely anti-British and a move to offsetting the French claim to be anti-French tactics in Europe on the part of the British especially in relation to near eastern questions and a growing concord as between England and Germany.

FORGETS U. S.
But while France is making her gestures in the great game of European diplomacy, hoping to bring England to terms on continental matters, she is forgetting the effect upon the United States. Unfortunately for France nobody in the delegation here seems to be strong enough to shape French policy which is being mapped out in Europe irrespective of effects upon America. Some observers have suggested that France is revengeful herself for the failure of the United States to ratify either the Versailles treaty or the defensive treaty between Great Britain, United States and France.

Others are saying that France is playing for a British guarantee of French security and that at the proper moment she will yield her demand for large armament. But the most important phase of the whole matter, at least so far as European economic reconstruction is concerned, hinges upon a friendly attitude on the part of the Harding-Hughes administration toward Europe. The tendency toward isolation had been slowly overruled by various moves made by the Harding administration particularly in being willing to attend meetings of the supreme council and in the calling of the armament conference itself.

But the impression created by French tactics here is to cool the ardor of the administration toward more conferences with European powers, particularly France.

MAY STAY HOME
Another thing—the supreme council is meeting at Cannes to discuss the economic reconstruction of Europe and there are plans for the bringing of both Germany and Russia into the conference. The United States government has been asked to attend and the drift here has been toward participation but the extent of America's interest in these coming conferences is a matter for the American executive to determine. If the French plan to spend their money for the building of submarines, aircraft and cruisers and intend to maintain a large standing army, they can hardly hope for the

Sirup Weapon Aids Forger To Make Escape

Milwaukee—A bottle of table sirup played an important part in the escape of Edward Hilton, 22-year old forger suspect, here Thursday night.

Hilton, under guard, went to the office of his attorney to make a long distance call, the rules of the county jail not permitting calls to be made from the jail.

On arriving at the office of Harry McLean, Hilton struck Deputy Sheriff Charles Gerns on the jaw, nearly falling him. Blinded by the sticky fluid, Gerns, grappled with his prisoner, but Hilton made good his escape.

When arrested, Hilton is said to have admitted to the police that he had served time in the St. Cloud, Minn., reformatory. Police say he is wanted for forgery in Chicago, Springfield, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn.

English and French Experts in Paris Prepare Plans for Cannes Conference

Brand partially lifted the veil which has surrounded the negotiations thus far, he said. Dr. Walter Rathenau, German envoy who suddenly appears in London or Paris at crucial times, was merely "listening in" on the present conference of experts.

FIX SMALL CHARGE AS CONSPIRACY

Trial Jan. 9 Will Charge Complicity in Plan to Embezzle $2,000,000

By United Press Leased Wire
Waukegan, Ill.—Governor Len Small will go on trial on charge of conspiracy to embezzle $2,000,000 in state funds.

Indictments charging embezzlement of state funds has been killed by the prosecution Friday.

James H. Wilkerson, assistant attorney general and leader of the prosecution, has until Jan. 7 to file with Judge Claire C. Edwards a bill of particulars setting forth what the state expects to prove at the trial, the date of which has not yet been set.

Judge Edwards set the date of the trial for Jan. 9 but action by the state in declaring it would not press the embezzlement charge caused the delay.

C. A. LaForge, the governor's attorney, will ask for separate trials for Small and Verne Curtis. Grant Park banker indicted with him, it was indicated Friday.

Monoplane Limousine Plane Drivers Brave Cold and Wind to Set Precedent

PILOT FREEZES HIS FINGERS Time in Air Without Landing Exceeds Past World Record by Two Hours

Minneapolis, N. Y.—America Friday established a new record for continuous airplane flight.

The record, 26 hours, 19 minutes, 50 seconds was made by Edward Stinson and Lloyd Bertraud, in an all-metal monoplane limousine.

The previous record, 24 hours, 19 minutes, 17 seconds, was held by France. It was established in June, 1920 with a biplane.

Stinson and Bertraud started their flight Thursday morning. After their machine landed Friday morning they climbed stiffly out of the limousine, three fingers of Stinson's in hand and one of his right were found to be frozen.

"It's good," he able to walk again said Stinson. "I'm nearly frozen."

MEN SUFFER
He said his fingers were exposed when he removed his gloves to mend a broken oil feed.

The men suffered severely from the bitter winds that buffeted their machine and it was only their grim determination to hang up a record for America that kept them going.

The thermometer in the driver's pit registered zero. Sleep was impossible. Of their supplies they drank only one bottle of coffee.

"I'm going home to bed," said Stinson. "I feel as if I'd never get warm again."

During the whole of the flight the men circled around over the towns of Minneapolis, Hempstead, Westbury and Garden City. They traveled hundreds of miles but never got out of Nassau county.

MRS. M'CORMICK GETS TWO ESTATES

Signs Away Her Rights to McCormick Millions in Divorce Settlement

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Edith Rockefeller McCormick and her divorced husband reached a property settlement here Friday.

Mrs. McCormick, John D. Rockefeller's daughter, and Harold F. McCormick, multimillionaire head of the International Harvester company, made public the division of their wealth. Mrs. McCormick divorced her husband on grounds of desertion two days ago.

According to an announcement by Attorney Charles Cutting, Mrs. McCormick "received" the McCormick town place on Lake Shore drive and also the vast estate at Lake Forest.

In return, Mrs. McCormick signed away her dower rights in the McCormick millions invested in the International Harvester company and other businesses.

Social leaders interpreted the settlement as meaning that Mrs. McCormick would continue to live in Chicago as society dictator.

McCormick, who now lives in the Lake Forest home, is expected to make his Chicago residence with his mother, Mrs. McCormick. In relinquishing both Chicago homes, friends believe McCormick will spend much of his time in the east or in Europe.

SHOEMEN BEGIN PLANS FOR STATE CONVENTION HERE

Preliminary Meeting Was Held Thursday and Another is Scheduled

The annual convention of Wisconsin Retail Shoe Dealers association will be held in Appleton, early in August, and will be attended by over 500 dealers and sales people from all parts of the state. It will be a three days' session and one of the features will be an exhibit of shoes by all the leading manufacturers.

The place of holding the convention has not yet been selected neither has anything been done about the program. Both matters were taken up at an informal meeting of the dealers at the Catholic Order of Foresters home Thursday evening, but owing to the small attendance it was decided to take no action until next Thursday evening when a general meeting of all dealers, heads of departments and sales people will be held at which all convention committees will be appointed.

The wives and daughters of many of the shoemen will attend the convention and provision is to be made for their entertainment. It is possible that several automobile trips will be arranged for them, and at least one boat excursion. It will be the first convention of shoemen ever held in Appleton. J. B. Langenberg is president of the state association.

WEATHER TOO MILD FOR SKATING RINKS

The fact there is very little frost in the ground is making it a difficult matter for the street department to construct the additional five new municipal ice rinks in the different wards of the city. A start was made on flooding the First and Fourth ward rinks Thursday, but very little was accomplished as the water soaked into the ground. With the present condition of the soil several footings will be necessary before a solid foundation can be obtained. As soon as this is secured an additional occasional flooding will be all that is necessary. If the weather continues mild there is no telling when the rinks will be ready for use.

18,000 CORPORATIONS TO FILE STATE REPORTS

Madison—Eighteen thousand blanks for the annual reports of all corporations operating in the state of Wisconsin were mailed out by the department of state Friday.

These reports must be filed by all corporations doing business in Wisconsin, and penalties of fines are provided if the reports are not filed between Jan. 1 and April 1. If the corporations fail to file after warning, their charters may be forfeited.

Information required by the report includes the nature of all business transacted by the corporation during the year, the amount of capital stock, and the amount of capital stock "actually paid" in money, property and services.

Foreign corporations, that is, corporations organized in states other than Wisconsin but doing business here, are required to give in addition to the domestic report, a supplementary report which relates the total amount of their business during 1921, both within the state and altogether, the total liabilities of their corporation, and the "true value" of their Wisconsin properties.

The fire was on the fourth floor and the sparks and leaping flames coming from it looked as though the place was on fire, the patrolman said.

HERMAN KURTZTISCH Milwaukee, Wis.

"When it comes to eating, working and sleeping I'm like a different man from what I was a short time ago," said Herman Kurtztisch, 406 1/2 North Pine, Milwaukee, with the Northwestern Life Insurance Co. in relating his experience with Tanlac. "My whole system was about to give way as a result of two years' constant suffering from stomach trouble and I was so run down and worn out I was hardly able to work. I actually dreaded to eat, as after every meal I suffered so terribly from heartburn, and I was so nervous I got little rest day or night.

"If it hadn't been for Tanlac I'm firmly convinced I would have had to resign my place. It came to my aid in the nick of time and I am strong for it. Tanlac was worth at least fifty times what it cost me."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by Voigt Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere. adv.

Lost Boy, Disguised As Vamp, Escapes Detection

The one year's membership in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. offered as a prize to the youth who apprehended the "lost boy" in the boy hunt under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon remains unclaimed as Carl Engler, who played the role of the lost boy, walked safely through the dragnet of more than 150 Appleton youths.

Engler appeared before the boys assembled in the boys' lobby of the Y. M. C. A. at 2 o'clock and was announced as the lost boy. Engler rode the 2:15 south bound interurban car for several blocks and donned the garb of a female vampire, galoshes and all. He was so completely disguised that he ventured to wink at several of the hunters on College-ave, who blushing thought they were being vamped.

The hunters spread a dragnet on College-ave. between State-st. and

SUBMARINE FLEETS

Those who have made a study of public opinion as far as it has manifested itself are convinced that the American people would be glad to be rid of the submarine altogether as a naval vessel. It is admitted that if it is retained strict rules will have to be prescribed regulating and governing its use, for all agree that German methods should not be tolerated. Yet no one can guarantee that the proposed rules would be observed scrupulously by a desperate nation, facing defeat in war. Without an international organization with power to force obedience or punish disobedience, there would always be trouble. The guilty nation would insist that the nation against which the wrong was done had been the first offender, and then would come up the question of retaliation. It would be much better to have done with the submarine altogether.

France, Italy and Japan seem to be opposed to the elimination policy, and the American delegates themselves are at least doubtful about it. They have offered a compromise which appears to be fair, but France has flatly refused to entertain it. Secretary Hughes first proposed that America and Great Britain should each have 90,000 tons of submarines, a slight reduction, and that the fleets of the other powers be on the basis of the capital ship ratio, under which plan France would have 30,900 tons of submarines. Last Saturday the secretary of state proposed that the British and American submarine fleets be respectively cut to 60,000 tons, which would mean a scrapping of 35,000 tons by America and 22,000 tons by Great Britain, and that France, Italy and Japan retain their present fleets. The result would be to give France 42,000 tons—her present strength—instead of 30,000 tons of submarines. The French delegation, however, has declared they will accept nothing less than 90,000 tons, even after America and Great Britain had offered to cut to 60,000 tons. Japan insists upon a tonnage of 54,000, while Italy asks only to be equal to France, and would prefer 31,500 tons for each power.

It seems evident that the French position is final, in which event there will be no reduction in submarine strength. It would be remarkable if Great Britain did not immediately begin greatly to strengthen her defenses against submarine attack. It is true, as Mr. Balfour said, that the submarine is an offensive, and not a defensive weapon. And he very clearly intimated that there was only one power against which there could be much probability that they ever would be used by France, and that power was Great Britain. The conference abandoned all effort to control land armaments, and this out of deference to France. Now France seems to anticipate as great danger from sea as from land. Her representatives at first refused to concede anything in the matter of capital ships, and now they are not content with an increase of 12,000 tons in submarines over her allotment on the capital ship ratio when America is to scrap 35,000 tons and Great Britain 22,000 tons. Under the Hughes plan France would have a submarine tonnage of 42,000, as against 60,000 each for Great Britain and America, whereas she now has 12,000 tons as against 90,000 for American and $2.16 for Great Britain. Japan would under the Hughes plan, have 31,000 tons, but she insists on 54,000 tons as a minimum. The problem is one of great difficulty, since it is not simply a question of France's submarine strength, but of the submarine strength of Italy—which wishes to cut down—and of Great Britain and America. The argument made before the committee last week by the French representative was wholly unconvincing.

LOST BATTALION WAS NOT LOST

Chief of Staff Pershing explains that the "Lost Battalion" of the lamented Col. Whittlessey was not lost, in a technical sense, but in the dense forest it had become detached from adjacent battalions. The command knew approximately where the "Lost Battalion" was, but was unable to get supplies to it. Pershing's explanation corresponds with the idea which most persons had. The public had an indistinct impression that lost meant detached, and it thought of the "Lost Battalion" as being so far from the main body as to be completely isolated.

It was the bravery and endurance of the members of the "Lost Battalion" that kindled the imagination of the people, and the technical explanation tends not in the least to detract from public admiration of these gallant men.

MERCHANT MARINE QUESTION IN CONGRESS

Party leaders may differ as to the most desirable method for maintaining the American flag on the high seas, but they can hardly have conflicting opinions as to the self-evident fact that American ships must sail the seven seas if American trade is to extend to all corners of the earth. It will be imperative for congress to find some satisfactory way to encourage shipping. According to news from Washington, the administration's subsidy plan is ready for submission to congress. The arrangement contemplates a direct subsidy of $34,000,000. Of this amount $30,000,000 is to be derived from the custom receipts of $300,000,000 for this year, and $4,000,000 from tonnage taxes on American and foreign ships. In addition, a revolving fund of $100,000,000 is to be created, and loans made to ship owners at five per cent.

By one device or another we shall have to establish the American merchant marine on a permanent basis. American ships to all leading ports and American banks at strategic commercial centers are essential to the development of our foreign commerce.

It will not suffice to oppose the administration's plan. That would be only obstructive and destructive. If this plan is not satisfactory to any group in congress, it will devolve on that group to suggest another plan. Legislation on this subject must be progressive and constructive.

DIJON SEEKS FAME WITH SAVORY FOODS

The case of the French city of Dijon is of some interest. Dijon is holding a week of feasting. The stores are displaying heaps of fowls, thrushes, larks, snails, trout and rare delicacies, and the restaurants are serving savory dishes at lunch and dinner every day. Dijon desires to be famous as the market where choice foods and delicacies may be prepared. And, though it is of no moment to Americans who cannot go abroad, press dispatches mention red Burgundian wines.

It is proper, of course, to like and eat rare food, and to relish it. Just enough choice food is good for the soul, as well as the body. We should appreciate everything we receive, and the way to appreciate savory dishes is to dispose of them with much satisfaction and no discomfort. Dijon's products seem to be quite appetizing.

However, very few cities become great or rich by being merely market-places for things to eat and drink. Dijon would take the shrewder course if it became a manufacturing and shipping center and made its name a trademark for special class foodstuffs. If we go to the Chesapeake Bay, we eat oysters, but we don't go there just for the oysters, and the commons is more likely to draw us to Boston than baked beans.

The American Jungle
One of the large financial institutions of New York has asked for bids for a bulletproof armored motor car for the transport of securities through the streets of that city. The cost will probably be about ten thousand dollars, but this expense is regarded as a good investment in safety, inasmuch as the machine, it is expected, will annually handle about half a billion dollars in securities belonging to the company and its clients. The company has occasion now and then to move as much as a million dollars' worth at once.
The investment in an armored car and the employment of armed guards, after the fashion of mail-carrier service, is likely to be profitable. Yet it is a commentary upon our civilization that it is necessary to safeguard the mail, and the financial securities in transit by military measures. We are an advanced, enlightened, progressive people. Still our cities are no safer than the brand-new frontier. Indeed, they are less safe than the jungles of Africa. Property is more secure in the wild places than in the centers of population.
The spectacle of armored cars and armed men escorting mails and stocks and bonds through the streets of our American cities does not bring comfort to those who take pride in the civilization of America. It is a reflection upon the civilization of America. —WASHINGTON STAR (Ind.)

TWO BAD HABITS

Thumb sucking and nail biting, to mention but two of the bad habits of children, belong in the category with cigarette smoking, since all these habits are stigmas of inferiority. They belong to bad heredity and a faulty education. Education, in the sense I now use the word, begins the day the infant is born. The more important part of a child's education is acquired unconsciously or by instinct from the parents and others in the child's environment long before any actual or conscious effort to teach the child to speak, walk, read or avoid unclean things is made. When I call thumb sucking, nail biting and cigarette smoking stigmas I am not unmindful of the frequent occurrences of these habits in nice families. Nice families are not immune to the taint of bad heredity. To be nice it is necessary to begin about 300 years back, and few of us can control things that far back, even the potentially we came over in the Mayflower or on the ten mile square raft that vessel must have had in tow when she crossed the Atlantic, if she thought all the ancestors required to account for all the descendants now extant.

Aside from the guttersnipe, the morose young man and the fast young woman, every elegant smoker is ashamed of his weakness. He is ashamed because he realizes in a vague way that he is betraying his kind. It is the recognition of the significance of thumb sucking that makes the parent anxious to break the child of the habit. It is the comprehension of the shame of nail biting that makes the victim wish to overcome the habit. A gentleman may smoke pipe or cigar, or possibly even a cigarette, in a gentlemanly way without injury to himself, in my judgment, and sometimes with benefit to himself. I say this only after several years of consideration of the possible effect of such an expression of opinion by one who purports to be a health expert. Let me make my meaning unmistakable.

A gentleman always considers the rights and feelings of others, and therefore he never smokes or tolerates about him the odor of smoking at business, in a conveyance, in a room, or anywhere in the presence of possible nonsmokers who may not like the aroma of second hand fumigation. This practically eliminates the cigarette smoker from the field. It eliminates a great many cigarette smokers. No gentleman would be caught smoking in the presence of a lady. There can be no debate about that.

A gentleman is content to enjoy his cigar or pipe (and possibly, as I say, his cigarette) in his leisure hour under circumstances agreeable to himself and not disagreeable to any one else. He is abstemious in his use of tobacco, and therefore derives more pleasure from it than he possibly could as a slave of tobacco. He has the habit, yes; but the habit never has him. I have never found evidence that the habit hurts him either. It pays to be a gentleman.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Trained Nurse Becomes Near Specialist
The high school nurse examined my daughter and told her she has a tendency to inward going which will be fully developed in two years, caused by drinking too much pure water....

Answer—Of course it is absurd to imagine that a nurse can learn in three years how to diagnose or treat disease. I'd suggest a free consultation for your daughter that the high school nurse couldn't properly bathe an invalid in bed or apply a mustard plaster, for such things are almost beneath the dignity of the highbrow trained nurse who seeks to become a kind of near doctor.

M. A. C.'s Whiskers
I am burdened with an extremely heavy beard. I can hardly shave without leaving my face blue from pulling the hair by the razor. Can you tell me anything that will diminish the growth or weaken the hair?—M. A. C.

Answer—My heart and hand go out to you, friend. If you ever do find anything that gives a modicum of relief, telegraph me at my expense.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Friday, Jan. 1, 1897
(New Years Day, no paper issued.)

In the Dark Belt
Allowing for possible exaggeration in the recelling, the conditions that have overwhelmed a little mining settlement in Payette county, West Virginia, are enough to form a question that is easy or hard to answer, as one views the sources of the situation. When a community, even one of only two thousand inhabitants, is supported by a single industry, there is an obligation which must be shared by the community and industry. It is not enough to say that the mines were closed months ago. There should be an indisputable reason for each action. In the case of Minden there is no such statement. It is said only that the mines were closed months ago. Since that time the five hundred men who support families have exhausted all their resources. Today they are starving at the crest of the season of Christmas cheer and good will.

If these men, and their dependent wives and children, have been deprived of their employment the fault cannot be laid to them. The responsibility rests upon those who took away the employment. And the responsibility, in the light of reports, is heavy. But so complicated is our civilization, and so befuddled those processes which we call thinking, that the question of responsibility has no place in our consideration. Such a condition as that in which the miners are is indexed simply as "unfortunate." And saying that we close our eyes, shut our ears and walk away.—PITTSBURG LEADER (Prog. Rep.)

Women and War

Lord Riddell, departing after having crowned his achievements in a decade of light and propaganda by selling the French temper out of its respect, is automatically subjected to the inevitable question, What does he think of American women? After saying a few complimentary things, he winds up with this: "If the world is to take to peace, the women have got to do it. The men can't, and men won't.... The men have too many traditions and hoary theories behind them. The women are coming into world affairs without these things pulling them back." The idea that women are a greater force for peace than men is the last of those singular misconceptions as to woman's influence upon policies which are being displaced by the adoption of female suffrage. The women have come into local, state and national affairs with all the traditions and all the hoary theories clinging as closely to them as they ever did to the male section of humanity, with the exception that since they are naturally the more romantic sex, traditions and theories have a greater appeal to their imaginations. There is no reason to suppose that they will not enter world affairs with a similar failure to direct themselves miraculously to the less pleasant parts of the human heritage. They do the same things as men, only they do them with greater enthusiasm.—BALTIMORE AMERICAN (Rep.)

A New Education

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—That the most important accomplishment of the conference has been to afford the American people a free course in international affairs, such as they never had before, is an opinion often heard here as the "great meeting" draws to a close. Public interest in the deliberations is now perhaps declining, but at the start it was keen. And never has such a high level of newspaper comment on a great political event been seen in this country.

It is true that every nation poured out its propaganda by the familiar methods, but these partisan statements stood side by side with discussion by experts which reached the very highest level of impartiality. A famous socialist wrote from his point of view under his own name, and his writings were printed by many papers who by no means shared his views. An economist of international reputation discussed the matter from an economic point of view. College professors, army and navy officers, radicals and conservatives, all have had a hearing.

Doubtless such a symposium of conflicting viewpoints is sometimes confusing; yet never has the intelligent reader had a better opportunity to hear all sides and form his own opinion.

And never before have the motives behind diplomatic moves and pretensions been more clearly unmasked. Compare the meeting to that at Versailles, where self-interest always advanced behind a barrage of platitude.

The Work of Public Opinion

In the first place, the common man has seen what public opinion can accomplish. For it was undoubtedly public opinion that created the conference and that deserves credit for whatever it may accomplish. The Borah resolution, providing for such a gathering, at first attracted no attention at all. Neither the American government nor any of the other governments seemed at all interested in it. But the Borah suggestion had fallen on fertile popular soil. It soon became apparent to the administration that there was a general popular demand for such a gathering.

Thus the average man is brought to realize that he is the ultimate arbiter in matters of peace and war. If the common man would not fight and pay taxes, there would be no wars. If governments could not drum up a war to decide who shall have the oil in Mesopotamia or the trade in Mongolia, then the oil and the trade would be peacefully divided up. Of course, the trouble is that some peoples make more rapid progress than others in getting over their capacity for being fooled. A people with something left in them of the medieval war spirit is a menace to the whole world.

None the less in this slow but steady popular revolution against war is the one real hope of permanent peace. Doubtless a great world tribunal will also be necessary; but that organization will simply be an expression of the sentiment which the average man to the war call.

Q. What is meant by finding a mare's nest? A. A.

Q. Why does one speak of something not wanted as a white elephant? M. W.

A. It was the custom of the King of Siam to send a white elephant to a courtier whose fortune he wished to destroy; hence something one has and does not know what to do with.

Q. Are many automobiles used in Canada? C. H.

A. At the beginning of the war, there were 6,115 automobiles in use in Canada. At the present time, the number has increased to more than 400,000.

Q. How is safe auto last prepared? A. M. P.

A. Add five cups of hot milk to one and one-half cups of coffee made four times the usual strength. This is a pleasant change from the usual breakfast coffee.

Q. Has Lima, Peru, a tropical climate? L. M. C.

A. Although near the Equator, the climate of Lima is delightful. The northwesterly ocean current and the nearby mountains temper the climate to such a degree that the hottest days of summer rarely register a temperature above 80 degrees F.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

Scrapping the War Debts

Much of the comment on what the SANDUSKY REGISTER (Rep.) calls Britain's "magnificent gesture" in her indicated "willingness to forgive all her own war debtors—on condition that they forgive theirs," may be said to be in the subjunctive mode. The report, says the NEW YORK TIMES (Ind. Dem.), "is too vague to serve as a basis of any definite conclusion concerning the debt policy of the Ministry," but at the same time the plan "is so wise, so statesmanlike, and so humane" that the HOUSTON POST (Dem.) thinks "it must be true." On the hypothesis, then, that the report is true, many papers point out that "the plan in question need not be attributed to entirely altruistic motives," to quote the LINCOLN NEWS (Dem.). "This would be a good stroke of business for Britain," says the MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.), "because as a manufacturing country dependent on foreign trade she cannot prosper herself unless the rest of Europe recovers economic balance and is able to buy her goods." "Immediate mutual cancellation," states the CHICAGO TRIBUNE (Ind. Rep.), "is more favored in England than in the United States. The bulk of our debt is owed by England and is collectible, whereas the bulk of the debt owed to England is probably not collectible." The effect of Great Britain's suggested course on the policy of debt cancellation by the United States "evokes the bulk of the comment," the effect of that policy," the RICHMOND TIMES-DISPATCH (Dem.) thinks, "proceeded with, would, without embarrassing this country," since it is "calculated to make that country appear generous and the United States selfish and grasping" and the situation would be capitalized "to the further loss of American prestige" in France and "in other countries that supported the allied cause." Washington will be obliged," in the opinion of the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER (Ind. Dem.), "to face one of the most difficult problems yet presented by it if Great Britain proceeds with a policy of debt cancellation without regard to the debt policy of this country," while the RENO GAZETTE (Rep.) feels that Britain "seems determined to force the hand of America in the matter and place her in the position of an unyielding creditor if she fails to fall in with the suggestion." That "insistence by the United States upon full debt payment is being made difficult" is admitted by the PITTSBURGH PRESS (Ind.).

However, "if they are really going through with their scheme," the BUFFALO EXPRESS (Ind. Rep.) thinks, "they are to be admired for their boldness, and perhaps at a later date the American people will commend them for their wisdom." That "it would produce a marked change of attitude in this country where we have been disposed to ask that Europe show some indications of the capacity for self-help before committing ourselves very deeply to the task of helplessness," is the opinion of the MANCHESTER UNION (Ind. Rep.).

PROVINCIAL THIRING (Ind. Rep.), "insist that cancellation must take place, at least in part, sooner or later," since some of the European countries can "never bring their inflated paper currency up to par. Some assert that we are already morally cancelling the debts by refusing through a high tariff to allow Europe to pay us in the only manner possible, namely, with goods. There is reason to suspect an effort to staminate us. We should be cautious." On the other hand, the SALT LAKE CITY DESPATCH (Ind. Rep.) believes that "we have a most excellent opportunity to be gracious without being patronizing," and "while apparently losing money out of one pocket we should be actually and actively putting it in another." The NEW HAVEN JOURNAL-COURIER (Ind.) thinks the "wise all round thing is to cancel the debt and forget it," while the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT (Ind. Rep.) believes that "it may not be best to cancel entirely, but modifications of the interest payments to a very low rate, with easy terms of payment, seem to have considerable advantages to those who have the nation's future prosperity at heart."

That it would be a mistake for the United States to yield to the policy tentatively proposed by Great Britain is argued by the JOHNSTOWN DEMOCRAT (Dem.) on the ground that if the "debts owed by the allied governments to the United States were forgiven" it would mean only "that by so much those governments would feel free to continue along their imperialistic courses with growing armies, expanding navies, and with persistent preparations for that 'next war' which the finges of all lands are promoting." Following this line of argument the CHICAGO TRIBUNE (Ind. Rep.) feels that "there should be no remission on terms which will permit the European governments to go on playing the destructive game of domestic politics and imperial adventure," in agreement with the TOPEKA CAPITAL (Rep.), which thinks that "to cancel the debt would simply promote 'rearmament in Europe and possible resumption of the old dispiriting game.' In addition to being a blow at the disarmament program, the NEW HAVEN REGISTER (Ind.) feels that "if these loans are not repaid and the occasion should ever arise again for these countries to borrow largely from America whether directly or through government loans, they would find a mighty hard time in doing it."

Beauty and Business
London's women in the business world cannot rely on sheer executive or commercial ability if she would succeed in her battles for livelihood against "mere man," but must also throw into the equation her asset of beauty, declares a London beauty specialist, who tells the LONDON CHRONICLE why business woman go to beauty experts. One business woman made a special trip to London and paid a large fee for beauty treatment.

"It is quite a mistake to imagine that all women who want their skins kept in perfect order, wrinkles removed and flaccid muscles tightened up go to trouble and expense merely because they want to look attractive," said the expert.

"Nowadays many women hold commercial positions of importance. Especially where a business has been built up by their own initiative and endeavor it is very important to these women that they shall by every means within their power maintain an impression of alert efficiency." "Faded faces do not, of course, mean the decay of mental power. But, unfortunately, many people are inclined to think so." "Business men would rather trust the conduct of their affairs to women whose faces look as if they are still toned by youth, even if their hair is gray, than to women who look as if life has at last been too much for them." "One of my more frequent clients is a woman who owns a highly successful dress-making business in a Scotch town. The first time she came to me she explained that part of her stock-in-trade was her general air of confidence and well-being." "What she wanted me to tell her was how, by following rules of simple hygiene and diet, and by using creams which were above suspicion, she could ward off the coming of old age to the last possible moment." "She told me for willingness, regarding it as a good investment which would be repaid over and over again, the firm hold she expects to retain on the confidence of her customers."

The APOLLO Reproducing PIANO

Brings to Your Home the Playing of

PADEREWSKI, HOFFMAN, GODOWSKY, BLOOMFIELD-ZEISLER, BAUER, LHEVINNE, DEBACHMANN, SAINT-SAENS, LESCHETIZKY

Not a mechanical approximation, but the living rendition exactly as played by the artist. Every detail of shading, tone, touch and expression is preserved.

How This Is Accomplished

The pianist plays on a special recording piano which, as he plays, makes perforations in the music roll to match his individual rendition in every detail. Expression holes are cut in the edge of the roll. Responding to this personally recorded roll, the Apollo mechanism, limited in its range of pianistic expression, reproduces the exact interpretation of the artist.

READY TO BEGIN TAX COLLECTION

City Treasurer Bachman Says
He is Ready for Rush Expected Tomorrow

Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer, has everything ready for the collection of taxes Saturday, Dec. 31. The racks containing the descriptions and receipts have been placed on a large table in his office within easy reach of his desk so that no time will be lost in waiting on taxpayers who are requested to bring their last year's receipts with them.

The sorting and grouping of receipts which always requires several days has been completed and provision has been made for additional help. As the first day for the collection is the last day of the year it is expected it will be a record breaker in the way of receipts as it is understood quite a number of the heavier taxpayers are planning to be among the first to call.

The office hours will be from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1:15 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

MORE FATALITIES AT RAILROAD CROSSINGS

F. D. Pendell of Fond du Lac, superintendent of the Northern Wisconsin division of the Northwestern road, who also acts as chairman of the safety committee of his division, has forwarded to W. D. Lansing, local agent of the company, copies of diagrams and charts taken from accident bulletin No. 78 issued by the interstate commerce commission which contains figures of general interest in connection with accidents at highway crossings against which railway companies are at present waging a campaign.

The chart shows that casualties in

A dance will be given at the Stevensville Auditorium on Friday evening, Dec. 30th. Music by the Valley Country Club.

Killed and injured at highway crossings have increased from 6,733 in 1917 to 6,868 in 1920. Of this number in 1920, 5,250 were occupants of automobiles. In 1917 the number of occupants of automobiles who met with accidents was 4,083. The number of occupants of other vehicles killed or injured decreased from 1,668 in 1917 to 931 in 1920. The number of pedestrians killed or injured at crossings is also decreasing annually, from 932 in 1917 to 637 in 1920.

Coasting, Skating And Skiing Have Not Lost Lure To Modern Boys

Girls, However, Are Showing More Timidity Than They Did a Few Years Ago—"Ketching Bobs" is Becoming Lost Art

Remember the old fashioned sled that your granddad made for you when you were a kid? Remember the Christmas when you found it under the tree and you went out and slid down hill all day, proud as a peacock? That funny little old sled, clumsy and unpainted, reminding one strangely of a wooden shoe, is an institution of the past.

It was on one of the thickly populated hills during the Christmas vacation that the reporter saw an old timer like that among all the flying coasters which came shooting down the hill one graceful curve after another.

One other girl, Pearl Feller, was coasting on the steepest hills in Jones Park, those which are used largely for skiing. Miss Feller said that she much prefers to sled and that she had put her sled away a year ago, but the call of the winter sports was too much for her and she brought it out again. She can not account for the lack of interest shown by the girls. The little girls seemed to be afraid to coast on the same hills where the boys are playing for fear that they will get hurt.

What seems to be the greatest fun

New Year's Dance

At Twelve Corners, Wednesday, Jan. 4th. Music by famous Aerial Orchestra, Neenah. Don't miss this. Tell your friends. Two busses leaving Pettibone's at 8 o'clock. Admission 85c.

other, with the ease made possible by the steering bar across the front. A little weathered wood sled of the vintage of yours and mine went down right behind a very shiny and modern one. It descent was humorous to two youngsters standing at the top of the hill, and the fact that the sled was badly maneuvered by two little girls did not excuse its awkwardness to them. "Look at the darn thing, it don't even steer," remarked one.

"Girls can't never steer," replied the other. "They ought to keep old boats like that one off this here hill. I'd see the way she plowed up the hill? That's right to spoil our fun with the old thing."

BOYS JAM HILLS

But coasting itself is as popular with the boys as ever and it seemed that all the new flyers and the newly constructed bumpers were on the many hills that day. More than a dozen boys were going down three deep on the hill west of the Congregational church. (Later in the afternoon this hill was banned by the police because of the danger of running into trucks and teams which use the hill.)

Another hill which would be ideal if it were not for the traffic is the one at the end of Drew-st. between the Presbyterian church and the college campus. Two bob sleds ran swiftly down this hill and were "dragged back up again all afternoon. It is also used at night. One of them was "manned" entirely by girls with Miss Ruth Davis doing the steering. These coasting enthusiasts fail to account for the apparent lack of interest in other girls of high school age and even in the younger girls. They were radiant with the exercise and fun of the sport.

for the boys is riding the bumpers, which are made from a barrel stave, a block of wood and a small piece of wood for the seat. These work splendidly on the hills adapted to skiing and are the cause for many a whoop of joy and shout of glee. While coasters and bobsleds are most popular at Jones park, bumpers abound on the choppy bits of hill directly north of the railroad track, back of stock market square. The descents here are very steep and not continuous, affording the thrilling element of uncertainty without much real danger.

SKIING HAS DEVOTEES

Skating as a winter sport always holds its own among young and old alike. Rinks have been established in all the wards with the main gathering at Jones park. Skating on the river and lake is also popular.

Although it has not the universal following of skating or coasting, skiing is a sport of skill which has many enthusiasts. There are hills in Jones Park, in Pierce park, in the lower Fourth ward and many other places where skiing is possible and very enjoyable.

With the strict traffic rulings, with the discouragingly small number of "bobs," and with the increased danger from the many motor driven vehicles, one old fashioned sport known as "ketching bobs" is rapidly disappearing. No longer can the children go out and spend a whole morning catching one bob and going as far as it goes and catching another back to the starting point. Many a dangerous mile has been traversed in this fashion and many a happy vacation day spent in hopping bobs.

NEW PLAN TO SPEED UP VETERAN CLAIMS

Former service men are requested by the veterans' bureau of the federal government to have their claims for compensation and treatment forwarded to the district office having jurisdiction over the place of their present address if they now reside in a different locality than when they started such proceedings. The request was made in a bulletin received by the Red Cross here.

The plan of forwarding these papers is being carried out in the western states first and then the states in the east. It was suggested that those who changed their address after making their claims should notify the district office that had charge of the papers originally and also the district office under whose jurisdiction the applicant now is.

COFFEE PRICES GOING UP SOON, DEALERS SAY

Coffee prices are due for an advance within the next few weeks while prices of other commodities are going down, due to adverse crop and climate conditions.

This information has been received by Appleton dealers in crop reports which indicate that drought and cold winds prevented coffee trees from flowering as they should. The next crop therefore will be smaller than usual and this condition may keep the price higher than the consumer expected.

Good coffee is hard to obtain and poorer grades are predominating in the markets, dealers say. The Brazilian government has announced that it will not sell its coffee before next June. This, together with the blight, is sure to affect prices, they declared.

LETTERS TO LOVERS

Virtue The Reward

By Winona Wilcox

The ideals of life need not fade out—if human beings would be about 50 per cent of what they pretend to be. Apropos of the kissing problem, a husband tells of his sad disillusionment. It's "the other side."

"Because she would not let me kiss her, I fell in love and proposed to the girl I married. She told me she knew how to value herself. And so I knew she was the wonder-woman."

"Today, my small son tells fibs, in imitation of his mother!"

"I do not remember that once have I had my own way since I married her. She is so jealous that I dare not smile when I take off my hat to a neighbor on the street. She has quarreled with all my relatives."

"She gets my breakfast only on Sundays when the whole family is late."

"We have no savings account, and never will have. She spends all I make and cares for me most on pay-days."

"She would have me think that just because she is young and pretty and virtuous, there is nothing I can do to pay her sufficiently for the privilege of just being her husband."

"I was always a dreamer. I used to think I would adore forever the woman who married me. I am sure a man has a right to demand virtue in the mother of his children. My wife's attitude toward men is above reproach and always has been. But she never pays any attention to my plea to teach our boy to tell the truth. She says I've no right to find fault, if she flirts with some of her friends. So, I might object to her flirts, the defects."

In short, virtue is the only reward to be exacted from it, according to the theory of the pretty wife whose husband complains so bitterly.

The ideas of the psychologists might help her. They say that lying often results from fear. The whipped child often forms the lying habit.

Lying may be overcome, but in the adult, the first step to reform is by way of a confession or acknowledgment of error.

To reform a fault in character, one first must admit that the flaw exists. It is not a disgrace to have our limitations, but only a disgrace to continue to harbor them.

"I wonder why I did that?" we ask ourselves when we have been humiliated or embarrassed by some impulsive word or action.

Our subconscious mind shaped our behavior, we couldn't help ourselves, explain psychologists.

But we can with patience re-educate ourselves. The wife who fibs can re-educate herself along lines of strict truthfulness, but not against her will, not unless she desires to do so.

Adventures of the Twins

Olive Roberts Barton

Following the Rainbow

"The first thing to do, children," said Cap'n Pennywinkle to the Twins as he folded up the Fairy Queen's letter, "is to find the rainbow. When you discover where the end of it is, look there for the bag of gold that the gnomes have hidden."

With that he turned Curley's head—his sea-horse steed, you know—back to the place by the sea weed grove where he watched the traffic.

Nancy and Nick looked after him thoughtfully. One would have thought that he was telling them how to find the corn grocery.

They had a lollypop, instead of hunting bags of gold and the foot of rainbow. As though rainbows and gold-bags were the most every-day things in the world! Not that they were discouraged—not a bit of it, only it was one more thing that was queer about the Land of the Wiggles.

Everything was most amazing. Nick had a book at home called "Davy Jones' Locker" that his Daddy read him at night, all about the ocean and ocean people, and it was full of queer things, too.

Suddenly something very bright glided by, something long and graceful and striped with the most beautiful colors. Nancy grabbed Nick's arm. "Look!" she cried. "There it is now. That's the rainbow, there! It's running away. Let's follow it."

Nick agreed so oft they started in their magic Green Shoes.

But what, my dears, do you think happened? The long, beautiful, graceful object stopped suddenly and turned around, and for the first time the children noticed that it had two bright eyes. Then it spoke. "For goodness sake, what are you two creatures tagging after me for?" it snapped, most unmannerly.

"Are—aren't you the rainbow?" faltered Nancy.

"Rainbow?" it snapped. "What's that? I'm Mr. Ribbon-Fish."

Washington—More profiteering indictments as part of the federal drive at high prices are imminent, it became known Thursday at the department of justice.

Some of these indictments will be against building material concerns, as prices in this line are soaring in spite of the recent anti-trust activities of the government. Attorney General Daugherty has been notified.

Grand Jury Will Hear Case of Alleged Slayer of Minnesota Legislator

Anoka, Minn.—Quick justice was promised Thursday for Earl Slater, confessed slayer of Frank L. Kelly, former state legislator from Mankato. Slater appeared before the Anoka county grand jury, convened late Wednesday by Judge A. E. Giddings of district court. Twenty-three men were subpoenaed.

The alleged murderer was brought to Anoka early Thursday under heavy guard from the Hennepin county jail.

County Attorney W. A. Blinnhard said he would ask an immediate indictment of first degree murder and that Slater will be arraigned immediately after the indictment is returned.

Telegram From West Virginia Soldier Names Three Men Killed by Officer

Washington—Charges that three soldiers were murdered by noncommissioned army officers at Camp Merritt, N. J., during the war were made in a telegram received Thursday by Senator Tom Watson, Georgia.

The telegram was signed by Bruce Bennett of Elk Garden, West Virginia. The Georgia senator said Bennett was undoubtedly a war veteran. He said he would ask that Bennett be summoned before the senate committee investigating Watson's charges that soldiers were illegally executed during the war.

"Saw three men murdered at Camp Merritt, N. J., by Sergeant Stanley, Sergeant Mahan and Sergeant Smith," declared Bennett in his telegram.

Another man beaten into unconsciousness by Sergeant Lampkin. Other witnesses were Fred Lough, Carthage, N. Y.; Willard Laube, St. Joe, Mo.; and other men. Number of men brutally treated at this camp—too numerous to list.

GREEN BAY FALLS BEFORE DAME'S TEAM, 36 TO 29

LEAGUE QUINTET SHOWS GOOD FORM IN SPEEDY GAME

Stark Shows Up Well in Battle With Baymen—Play Good Offensive Game

George Dame's professional basketball team showed good form with a strong defense and defeated the Green Bay quintet, 36 to 29, Thursday evening in Armory G in a spirited game. One of the largest crowds of the season witnessed the contest.

Basing started the scoring for the local five in the first three minutes of play with a free throw, followed a minute later with a field goal by Stark. The score was 2-0 in favor of the home team at the end of the first period ending 14 to 13 in favor of the locals. Stark played a consistent game and was the brightest star on the armory floor Thursday night. He was held to two field goals the first half but counted seven in the final period.

The passing game of the locals was ragged and listless the first half but was greatly improved in the second period. The dribbling of Basing and Kubitz was very effective in maneuvering the ball around floor. Wilson featured for the Baymen, netting seven baskets and one free throw. McGinn followed with four ringers.

The presence of Alden "Ziggy" Thompson, former Lawrence star at center, strengthened Dame's lineup. He played a good floor game and scored four baskets. Ritchie, the Wisconsin Rapids shift forward, and Northington, guard, did not appear in the lineup but will start in the Fond du Lac game Thursday evening. Appleton lost to Fond du Lac in their first meeting, 25 to 24.

The lineups follow:
Appleton—Stark and Kubitz, forwards; Thompson, center; Basing and Taylor, guards.
Green Bay—Wilson and McGinn, forwards; Rosenow, center; Wheeler and Klaus, guards.

No Foes For Dempsey

Who will be Jack Dempsey's next opponent?
Fred Fulton is being prominently mentioned.

It will be recalled that Fulton didn't last long against Dempsey in their previous meeting.
After the two fighters were introduced, they squared off. Dempsey cut loose a swing, and Fulton kissed the floor. Exit.

The latest in heavyweight circles is that Harry Greb of Pittsburgh will be the next fighter to dispute Dempsey's right to the title.
Greb will shortly meet Johnny Wilson, holder of the middleweight title. The bout will be staged at Madison Square Garden. Most of the critics feel sure that Greb will lift the crown.

The result of that bout alone, is holding up the proposed Dempsey-Greb go. If Greb loses to Wilson, then such a bout would have no drawing power. However, if he wins this middleweight title, such a meeting would attract wide attention.
A lot of people will scoff at the idea of Greb meeting Dempsey. Greb has a much better chance than did Carpenter. He is bigger and sturdier than the European champion.

While Dempsey's physical advantages would make him a big favorite over Greb, still the bout wouldn't be as lopsided as it seems.

Remember Bob Fitzsimmons was never much more than a middleweight, if you merely consider poundage.

Ten Pin Artists Here Enthusiastic Over Big State Bowling Tourney

Appleton will be well represented at Annual Meet in Madison Next Month—Green Bay Seeks Next Tournament.

Appleton bowlers are becoming enthusiastic over the annual state bowling tournament to be held in Madison from Jan. 26 to Feb. 26. At least 1,000 teams from every nook and corner in the state are expected to enter.

Never before in history has there been so much interest in bowling in Appleton as there is this year. There are dozens of leagues with nearly 100 teams rolling games on local alleys and more and more men and women are becoming interested in the game every day. One of the biggest and most successful leagues in this part of the state—the City league—has been organized in Appleton and rolls every Tuesday night.

Today's Sport Angle

By Billy Evans

Dartmouth has been given a date on the Harvard football schedule for 1922.

That statement doesn't mean very much to the average football enthusiast. However, it means much to Dartmouth as a college, and Major Frank Cavanaugh, now football coach at Boston college.

Back in 1911 Dartmouth held Harvard to a 5 to 3 score. It was a terrific struggle to the limit to win. The game was a very rough one.

In 1912 Dartmouth had another great team. Harvard had all kinds of trouble winning 2 to 0, despite the great strength of the Crimson eleven. A drop kick by Charley Bickley was the only score of the game.

The following year Dartmouth was dropped from the Harvard schedule. One of the reasons given was Dartmouth's team was entirely too strong for the position given it on the schedule.

The dropping of Harvard was also the occasion for a highly unjustified attack on Frank Cavanaugh, then coach at Dartmouth. He was accused of instructing his players to get the Harvard stars. While the game was rough, Dartmouth suffered even more than Harvard, so it would seem the Crimson players were also a bit strenuous.

The return of Dartmouth to the Harvard schedule after a nine-year absence, is pleasing to the alumni of that institution and Major Cavanaugh.

It would seem that Major Cavanaugh was a trifle too efficient as a coach for the so-called "big three." His eleven of 1911 and 1912 at Dartmouth forced Harvard to the limit.

After leaving Dartmouth, Cavanaugh went to Boston college. In two succeeding years he beat Yale, who immediately dropped Boston college, as Harvard had dropped Dartmouth.

Old Time Stars Show Good Form in Game Against 1921-22 Quint

The high school alumni basketball team defeated the high school five in the curtain raiser of the Appleton-Green Bay game at Armory G Thursday evening, 24 to 20, in a hard fought game.

The game was featured by long shots from the middle of the floor. Basing of the alumni team netted five markers and Roach and Brise of the high school quint scored four baskets a piece.

The first half ended 12 to 13 in favor of the alumni. Roach and Brise did good work for the highs. Basing was replaced in the second period by N. Bloomer. The score was 20 to 20 at the end of the second period until it was tied, 20 to 20. In the last three minutes of play two long shots by Dunn and Showalter gave the grads a safe margin.

Here are the lineups:
Appleton high school—Roach and Brise, forwards; Laughlin, center; Hagen and Johnson, guards.
Alumni—Bloomer and Showalter, forwards; Dunn, center; Jacobson and R. Kubitz, guards.

LONG JAUNT FOR GAME MEANS BUT LITTLE TO NEALE

Coach of Presidents is Accused to All Kinds of Athletic "Scenery"

One of the great drawbacks of college teams going across the continent to play football games, is that the surroundings are so different and unbalanced them.

That has aided a great many of the teams that went across the continent previously. California is much different from the east, far different from the surroundings these players are accustomed to. They lose their polish, and become more or less rattled under the new conditions.

The mental attitude of a team depends a great deal upon the coach. In this, W. and J. has an advantage. Neale is a baseball player, and playing in one end of the country or in another is all in a day's work with the ball player. Being in California will mean no more to Neale than being in Cincinnati or Pittsburgh or Gallopis, Ohio.

A baseball team in Paris would find the players, or the great majority of them, loafing around the hotel lobby until the bus left for the ball park. The same in London, Cairo, Japan or Vicksburg, Miss.

Scenery never meant anything to any ball player. Any ball park has a home plate, first, second and third base, right center, and left field. It is the player's geography; no other territory matters.

All players are alike in this respect and Neale will not be staggered by anything he comes across in California. Neale will have poise and it is very likely that his players will have the same sort of poise; at least they will not lose as much as some of their predecessors on California gridirons.

Tiger Star On Market

Bobby Veach

Bobby Veach, hard-hitting outfielder of the Detroit Tigers is on the market.

Howard Ehmke, who has one of the most deceptive fast balls any big league pitcher ever boasted of, is also to figure in the trade.

Manager Cobb of the Detroit club says that he can land high in the first division, if he secures a second baseman and shortstop capable of filling the bill.

In all probability Veach and Ehmke will be used in a trade that will bring a couple of infielders to the Tigers.

A few years ago the Boston Red Sox would have traded Scott to the Tigers for Veach. Such a deal was proposed. Just now Scott would help first division possibility. His sale to New York may kill any chance Detroit had of getting him.

Others talked about for second base are Jack Knight, who has played on various American League clubs, and Marty Krug, who had a brief trial with the Boston Red Sox.

Johnny Mitchell, who subbed for Roger Peckinpaugh at short, is said to be the player desired in a trade for Ehmke. Mitchell might help the Tigers. Ehmke would certainly be useful to the Yankees. The big fellow is a great pitcher and is going to prove it to the world some day.

PREDICTS SMALL SCORE IN ANNUAL EAST-WEST GAME

Former Football Writer Thinks Pasadena Game Will be Bitterly Fought

By United Press Licensed Wire
Los Angeles—The California-Washington and Jefferson battle at Pasadena promises to be the lowest score match of any of the big football events of the year, in the opinion of Herbert Rawlinson, former football writer and athletic director of the Denver Athletic club and now a movie star.

"California has a stronger team than the one that defeated Ohio State in the 1920 New Year's game," said Rawlinson. "But W. and J. is proportionately a better machine than the 1920 Ohioans."

"The result is going to be a fast, brilliant and brainy game—and a mighty low score."

"California's aerial game is the most interesting I have ever seen. But Coach Xaale of W. and J. will have a defense to counter it."

"The man who piloted W. and J. through a season of eastern football without defeat is not going to let California run away with the game on forward passes alone, no matter what western fans think.

"It's going to be a battle of brains and generalship as well as of football beef this year."

"Two all-American stars are to oppose each other, a fact that should inject dynamite into the play. Muller, the sensational end of the coast eleven, is one of the players chosen for the mythical all-stars. The easterners are represented by Captain Stein at tackle."

"Stein is of the roving type. He plays tackle, end and halfback to suit the occasion. He is the outstanding star of the eastern teams."

"Muller is the superman of the California eleven. It's going to be interesting and then some to compare the work of these two all-American stars when they are pitted against each other."

SISLER DOESN'T WANT TO BE TEAM MANAGER

St. Louis—George Sisler, star first baseman for the St. Louis Americans, does not aspire to be a major league manager and is satisfied in the role of player, according to his own assertion on Wednesday. Sisler managed Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast Winter league and won the pennant. Sisler was offered the management of the Browns last year, but declined on the ground that he did not have the time or inclination to be a manager. He is spending the holidays at his home here.

SMITH KEEPS CLOSE TAB ON HIS PLAYERS

The "Critic's corner" is an important cog in the California system. High on top of the stands at Pasadena sits the first assistant varsity coach. He holds a telephone and a pair of powerful field glasses.

The telephone is connected with the players' bench. At the receiving end is the freshman coach.

The lookout coach watches the game, noting all the flaws in his own team and in the opposition. He communicates all his observations to the freshman coach, who takes notes on everything.

Whenever the chief observer finds a situation of vital importance, California, whether on offense or defense, Head Coach Smith is hurried to the telephone and talks personally to the lookout.

BLUE STREAKS WIN FROM KIMBERLY BASKET TEAM

The "Blue Streaks" basketball team of Appleton invaded Kimberly Wednesday evening and defeated the Holy Name church five, 38 to 27. The local team was handicapped by low hanging rafters which made long shots impossible. The first half ended with the local team on the short end, 13 to 8, but it staved a comeback during the final period and swamped the Kimberly men.

The Blue Streaks started as follows:
D. Bender and J. Green, forwards; M. Schenck, center; C. Thompson and A. Delzer, guards.

INTERLAKES WILL PLAY BLACK CREEK

The Interlake Pulp and Paper company basketball team will play a return game with the Black Creek five in Armory G, next Wednesday evening. ROW SPOILS U. S. OLYMPIC CHANGES

College Athletic Association Refuses to Work With Amateur Athletic Union

New York—America is getting away to a fine start to lose the 1924 Olympics.

At a time when cooperation between all the various athletic bodies is vitally necessary, bitter discussion has broken out that may lead to most anything.

The National Collegiate association, including in its membership every college, university and conference of importance in the United States, has refused to join the new American Olympic association because it is a "backed" A. A. U. body. The army and navy also refuse to join.

Everyone knows what a mess the A. A. U. made of the last Olympic trip and anyone who had first hand facts and experiences of that trip knew that change in administration of Olympic affairs was the first pressing need in getting ready for the 1924 games in Paris.

True, the primary object of the trip was achieved. America went through a victory but it was plain to be seen from the speedy development of the athletes in Finland, Sweden and Norway that Uncle Sam cannot last for three years and in a few months before the boat sails summon a band of chosen athletes and send them over.

A Child's Estimate of Milk

Written by Edna Ennis, Age Eleven Years
Acequia, Idaho

WHY I SHOULD DRINK MORE MILK

Dear Mr. Coffee, you can take a back seat, And old Mrs. Tea, you've no room to speak; For we're going to drink milk from this time and ever.
For 'twill make us all stronger, more healthy and clever.

If you would drink milk three times a day You'd be much healthier, I would say— Milk for breakfast, milk for lunch, Milk for supper instead of punch.

If things go right and I have my way, We'll all have milk three times a day, For there is nothing that looks any better to me Than a cup of milk instead of tea.

Milk is something we all should drink, It helps us to grow, keep well and think. It is something that is good for one and all, From the old and feeble down to the small.

Milk is healthy, sweet and pure, So if you use more milk, you'll be healthy sure, For there's nothing better for us all to drink Than clean, fresh milk, which makes us think. —The Dairy Diet.
